

IBM Training Initiatives

As part of the Center's pioneering efforts to build national capacity and promote digital innovation, the Center for Advanced Studies in Artificial Intelligence (THAKAA) at King Saud University is leading a strategic partnership with IBM, aiming to provide quality capacity-building programs in the fields of artificial intelligence, data, cybersecurity, quantum computing, and modern technologies.

This table reviews the most prominent training initiatives and seminars launched by IBM in collaboration with THAKAA, specifically designed to provide university students, faculty members, and citizens with the knowledge and skills that qualify them to lead digital transformation locally and globally.
